Receipt and Expenditure Reports

State Capitol - Secretary of State Max Maxfield, issued a reminder that state statutes require that all non-federal candidates, candidate committees, political parties' central committees, political action committees and any other organization supporting or opposing any ballot proposition which expends funds to submit a Receipt and Expenditure Report (R&E) within 10 days following the election. That means the reports are due on Friday, November 14.

At a later date, federal candidates will submit reports to the Federal Election Commission (FEC). Copies of those reports will then be available on the Federal Election Commission website at: <http://www.fec.gov>.
